

A Letter from Roger Milla to Football Club Supporters

Dear supporters,

You know the power of a stadium: thousands of voices, different colours, one shared emotion. Today, I am asking you to carry that power beyond football, for children who need our help.

Noma is a serious disease that can destroy a child's face if it is not treated in time. Some children who survive need reconstructive surgery and long-term follow-up care. Others live with facial or congenital conditions and struggle to access specialist treatment.

Through the Roger Milla Program, we are preparing a Centre of Excellence project in Cameroon. Our ambition is to welcome children from across Africa and provide care free of charge according to their medical needs. The centre has not yet been built. We must first complete the necessary studies, bring partners together and secure sustainable funding.

You can help move this project forward. Talk about it in your supporters' groups, share our appeal, encourage your club to get involved and invite those who can to contribute. Every action can open a door to a partnership, valuable expertise or financial support.

On the pitch, no one wins alone. These children also need a large, loyal and determined team. I hope you will be part of it.

It's the gesture that counts.
