INTERVIEW / GAZA EMERGENCY APPEAL

Interview with Roger Milla

Help children get through the winter

Why is the Roger Milla Program launching this appeal?

When we think about winter, we think about simple things: somewhere dry to sleep, a blanket at night, a hot meal. That's the kind of practical help we want to bring to children and families in Gaza. If I can use my voice to draw attention to the appeal and encourage people to help, I want to do that.

What will donations pay for?

Donations will help pay for tents for families without adequate shelter, as well as blankets, hot meals and safe drinking water. We also plan to provide hygiene kits and nappies for families with young children. The budget includes the cost of transporting and distributing the supplies.

What is DIGNITÉ Internationale's role?

The Roger Milla Program leads the fundraising appeal. DIGNITÉ Internationale, which works in Palestine, helps us identify the most urgent needs, organise assistance on the ground and keep records of what is distributed. We'll confirm where, when and how much we can deliver with our partner, based on families' needs, available supplies and access.

How much do you need to get started?

Our initial estimate is €62,700. We still need to confirm quantities and prices with our partner and obtain supplier quotes. The preliminary budget does not record any confirmed funding. We'll report pledges, donations actually received, spending and aid delivered to families separately.

How can donors follow the campaign's progress?

We want people to see what came in, what we spent and what reached families, including how many tents, blankets or meals were distributed. We'll report on the work while respecting families' dignity. No one will have to agree to be photographed or give a testimonial to receive help.

What would you like to say to the public?

If you can, please support the appeal. Sharing it with friends and family can help too. Visit the Roger Milla Program website to find out how to get involved. Thank you to everyone helping children and their families get through the winter.
